EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Oct 2017 – Present Freelance Web Developer

Since moving to Dublin I have been working in the service industry with a view to improving my English. I am now confident that it is at a level where I can move forward in my technical career path. Although, I have been working in a restaurant I have been proactive in gaining freelance clients to continue and develop my web development skills. Please see my portfolio <https://ericgaona.com> for a collection of websites I have created for clients both in Ireland and Spain. These websites have been created using a mixture of Wordpress, HTML, CSS, JavaScript and PHP.
